the gold coinage of that country.

Travelers in the Connecticut valley may sometimes see many acres cov ered by white cheesecloth supported at a height of nine feet from the ground, on a framework of posts and wire. Under these vast tents Sumatra tobacco is grown. Experiments con ducted by the Department of Agricul ture led to the use of this system of protecting the tobacco plants, and the esults have been found excellent. The ight, sandy soil along the Connecticut river is well suited for the growth of Sumatra tobacco. The United States government furnishes the seed and supervises the cultivation, preparation and sale of the product, the farmers paying the cost and receiving the profit.

That the great clothes canopies can

Palestine.

The country known as Palestine designated in the Bible by more than one name. During the patriarchal period, the conquest, and the age of the Judges, also where those early periods are referred to in the later literature of the Jews, the country is quently "the land of Canaan," meaning thereby the country west of the Jordan, as opposed to "the land of Gilead" on the east. During the mon archy the name usually employed "land of Israel." It is the favorite expression of the prophet Ezekiel. Hosea calls it the "land of Jehovah." In the Book of Zechariah it is "the Holy land"; in Daniel "the glorious land"; and occasionally it is mentioned simply as "the land,"

Devaux-Charbonnel, the French scientist, has photographed the variation of current in a microphonic circuit by the aid of a Blondal oscillograph. The photographs are reproductions of the syllables pronounced by a human voice, and it is expected that they will be of use in the solution of various problems in telephony. In studying the impression made by syllables the experimenter found that each syllable is composed of 30 to 40 complete vibrations. The begining and by the impressions of the consonants, but the modifications cover only four or five periods, so that each syllable has 20 to 30 regular vibrations corresponding to its vowel. The method permits the study of the higher harmonics, which give character to words.

"Let others pipe lays in the war eagle's praise
And eke to the peacemaking dove;
For each is a bird, at least so we've heard,
That is worthy the national love.
Be ours the task—It is all that we ask—
To sing to the down-trodden hen,
Who ne'er foully shirks, but constantly works
For the profit and pleasure of men.
Does the dove, we inquire (we ask without ire)
E'er pay for her board or her keep?
And the proud bird o' prey, we ask, does he pay?
The thought of his cost makes us weep.
But gaze on the hen, and ponder again,
Does she wait for a crisis, we beg?
Does she demand glory, either stainless or gory,
Ere laying her valuable egg?
Nay, the sinews of war, we look to her for,
She adds to our income in peace.
Does she scream or yet coo? No, she "cackles," she do, thousand. and assessed:

will raise a Budget Requirement of not less than $75,000 a year for three years, to finance "The Maine Program." This sum will be secured by selling throughout the State, Membership Shares at $25.00 a share per year. It is estimated $55,000 of the Budget Requirement will be expended for Advertising, $20,000 for maintaining Bureaus of Information, compiling pamphlets, administration, general expenses, etc.

The Maine Program

It co-ordinates every interest to advertise Maine, its Recreationa advantages, Natural Resources, Agricultural and Industrial opportunities, and present Commercial Developments, with the object to interest the Tourists Public in Maine as a recreational center, to develop its industrial and agricultural possibilities, and to call attention to Maine's commercial activities.

Literature descriptive of the recreational attractions of the State, lists of Hotels, Garages and such other information valuable to the tourist, compiled and distributed. A survey of industrial opportunities throughout the State of Maine, made in co-operation with the State Chamber of Commerce and with local Chambers of Commerce. Comprehensive lists of available farm lands, secured together with information relative to markets, freight rates, etc. Classification of commercial enterprises compiled and distributed.

Development of certain standards of service to tourists. The Central Information Bureau acting as the medium in adjusting complaints of unfair treatment, or unjust charges. Membership display signs or certificates

Central Information Bureau established in Portland for general dis-Tribution of every kind of information relative to Maine. Sub-offices or stations of information at main points of entry throughout the State-or wherever advisable. Special descriptive literature, i, e. Hotels, Garages, Railroads, Commercial Enterprises, etc., supplied by members, exhibited and distributed at information bureaus.

It maintains a continuous Advertising and Publicity Campaign, featuring the recreational, industrial and agricultural opportunities, and commercial activities. This advertising and publicity to be general in character, and not confined to any special interest or locality in the State. Advertising copy and mediums carefully selected to reach prospects, interested served with lettuce leaves and garnished in either commerce, industry, agriculture or recreation.

Salads for All Occasions. (By Saidee L. Slover.)

'There's method in the mixin'." The salad, crisp, dainty and appetiz ing, is an indispensable accompaniment to the well-ordered meal. Not so many the sea appreciated the value of the hand the directions for making salads to complete the menu for any dinner or luncheon, and the beauty of a salad recipe lies in the fact that, if the housekeeper lacks a part of the ingredients, something else at hand may be substiuted instead with excellent results.

The salad forming the staple article of he luncheon or supper menu may confeeding of the body. The salad to accompany the hearty dinner must, necessarily, be of different character, ight, crisp, appetizing, stimulating. French dressing, or a light cream dressing, is preferable for a dinner salad, while a rich mayonnaise may dress the luncheon salad. A salad with French dressing is appropriate to serve with meats. A salad with mayonnaise should be one of the principal courses of a meal, usually for a luncheon or afternoon eception. If salad is served as the principal course, wafers and cheese hould be served with it, but if salad is served with meat course, wafers and cheese may be served with the coffee.

The following rules should be ob-erved in making salads: First, everyhing must be cold; second, greens mus be crisp; third, ingredients must be well proportioned and blended; fourth, the whole must be well mixed.

Always dress a salad in this order: Salt to make it savory; pepper, or other spice, to make it bright; oil, butter or ream to make it smooth and more nour ishing; lemon juice or vinegar to give piquancy to the whole; and sugar, if desired, to lessen the acidity. Asparagus, lima or string beans, beets, carrots, peas, cauliflower, spinach or turnips may be served upon lettuce leaves, dressed with French dressing and garnished, if desired, with bits of pimiento, parsley or red mango. The vegetable must be well cooked and cold. The following combinations, using the proper dressing, are good, although the list might be extended indefinitely:

1. Thin-sliced apples or banan with fine-chopped nuts.

2. Celery combined with fresh toms toes, or tomatoes canned whole. A bit f onion may be added if desired.

3. Endive or cress may be used alone.
4. Cabbage and celery, combined with or without a bit of onion, and a green pepper, fine-chopped.
5. Celery and cucumber alone, or in

6. Either pecans, English walnuts or liced bananas and cubes of pineapp or large strawberries, or peaches. 7. White grapes cubes of pineapple pananas, and oranges, garnished with 8. Juicy apples, with slightly acid taste, cut in cubes, and added to diced

COOKED SALAD DRESSING. One teaspoonful of salt, one teaspoon ful of mustard, one and one-half tea-spoonfuls of sugar, few grains of cay-enne, three-fourths a tablespoonful of flour, yolks of two eggs, three-fourths a cup of scalded milk, one-half a cup of hot vinegar, one and one-half teaspoon-fuls of melted butter. Mix the dry ingredients, add the yolks and mix thor-onghly; add the scalded milk, return to double boiler, add the hot vinegar, stirring constantly until mixture thickens, add the butter. Let cool before using FRENCH SALAD DRESSING. Six tablespoonfuls of olive oil, two tablespoonfuls of one-half a teaspoonful of pepper, one-half a teaspoonful of salt. Place salt and pepper in a small bowl, and very gradually add the olive oil, stirring all the time. When salt is dissolved, add the vinegar (or emon juice) stirring until the mixture slightly thickens.

One cup of vinegar, one cup of either weet or sour cream, one tablespoonful ne-fourth a cup of sugar, one-fourth cup of butter, three eggs, well beaten, few grains of red pepper. Cream together butter and sugar, and add seasonings, then add eggs and cream, stirring constantly. Cook in double boiler. When the mixture begins to thicken, add not vinegar, a few drops at a time.
Beat constantly and remove from fire occasionally to avoid overheating the

To Whip Cream: If your cream is cold, out will not whip, add about five drops of glycerine to a pint of cream, and it will soon become stiff. A few drops of glycerine in chocolate used for dipping bonons will give them the desired gloss, and they will harden more quickly. To Mark Dishes: I have found the easiest way to mark dishes when taking them to a church dinner, or to loan, is to cut tiny strips of adhesive tape and ind you may still be safe. Centerpiece: Have you ever seen a small, glossy leafed plant that made a beautiful foliage plant for the table and grew in a short time? You may have such a pretty plant by planting a few grapefruit seeds in a flower pot. Shoe Rack: Nail a strip of wood, inch square by any desired length, t the top of the baseboard in your close and you can hang your shoes by the heels over this. You will be surprised how much cleaner they stay than if thrown around on the floor. Shoetrees Bias Binding: To make bias binding to match any garment, take the binder from the sewing machine and press the material with a hot iron as you pull your evenly cut strips through this. I have made eight or ten yards in less than five minutes. A neater piece of work may be done, especially on a curved edge or where there are corner

Raw onions or Bermuda onions are then on our table. We eat more of them raw than cooked. There is seldom a meal without some pieces left over.
These, left in a dish, soon dry out. Besides this, they give off a pretty strong odor, that annoys some people.
